Intersectionality is represented as an analytic framework that attempts to identify how interlocking systems of power impact those who are most marginalized in society. Intersectionality postulates that various forms of social stratification, such as class, race, sexual orientation, age, religion, creed, disability and gender, do not exist separately from each other but are interwoven together. The concept of intersectionality is intended to illuminate dynamics that have often been overlooked in feminist movements and...